Numbers matching Lotus Elan. Powered by the Lotus twin cam engine with dual Stromberg carburetors. The carburetors were just rebuilt. The 4-speed gearbox shifts smoothly and runs quietly. The indicated 41,000 miles are believed to be the original mileage. It is a rust free car and shows no signs of accident damage. The knock off wheels are in good condition, with no worn drive peg holes and the tires have lots of tread left in them.

- All the electrical system is working.
- The interior is in good condition. There is a small hole in the driver's seat and the dash pad is cracked in a couple places. The car still retains the factory original Kangol seat belts.
- The front trunnions were rebuilt, and new upper ball joints and new steering tie rod ends were installed.
- The braking system was refurbished with rebuilt calipers on all four corners. New brake hoses were installed on all four corners. Brake pads were replaced front and rear.
- The car was repainted in its original Lotus Yellow at some point in time. It is holding up well, but there are some nicks and a few star cracks showing through as a result of age and use.
- The car starts right up and drives well, with no surprises. The engine pulls well and has plenty of power. The transmission shifts just like it should, with a well-defined 'snick' into each gear.
- This is a good running and driving car and will give lots of driving satisfaction.
