1998 P38 Range Rover
$4,250 OBO

This one is a limited edition 50th Anniversary model (number 28 of 50) special paint and interior as well as a number plaque on the dash. It has low mileage (about 168K kilometers) and is a very clean and nice driving rover, 4.0 V8 engine runs well with lots of power (head gaskets were done by a previous owner), body is in great shape, interior is very nice, power everything, good tires, brakes are like new, only one minor oil leak. The air suspension system is working well and it is a very comfortable ride. These rovers are a little bit quirky and are best suited for someone who likes to tinker and has some mechanical skills. The P38 is starting to attract interest from collectors as it was the last model designed by the original Land Rover company before they were bought out and the values for them are beginning to increase. This is a very nice example of a limited edition Range Rover but I have 2 rovers in the yard and can only keep one so I'm looking for a P38 fan who would like to have it. I'm asking $4250 OBO.
